Welcome to the February Connections!

Here you'll read about our upcoming Lent series that will take us deep in to Paul's letter to the Romans. You'll get to meet the amazing folks who volunteer as part of the Bulletin Folding Group in this issue's Trinity Volunteers section, You can enjoy the latest article by Rex and the Jerusalem Temple Gazette. And you also have the special treat of a meditation on the deep joy of friendship from Hope Ward and Samantha Valentine!

Make sure to flip all the way to the back for updates on upcoming events like Kids Food Basket Drive, the 2nd Sunday SOUPer Bowl Lunch, and the new bible study for Women of the Word: Evening Edition.

As the snowy season stretches into another cold month, may you stay warm and cozy and safe!

And make sure to ask for help if you need it... reach out to your elder or deacon if you need some help to shovel a driveway, could use some help going grocery shopping, or just for a visit and a cup of tea on a cold day.

NOTE FROM PASTOR LYDIA

Dear Trinity Family,

I discovered something about scripture. I can flip to nearly any chapter in the Bible. Scan it. And find a word about nature. Sure, mention of people (which are part of creation!) – there are lots of people in scripture – but also space or place, weather or landscape, animal or plant, and so forth.

I'm not sure I've ever noticed that. How every page points to nature in some way. And sure, I haven't read the Bible cover to cover since discovering this – but I'm starting to keep my eye out for how often nature is engaged in scripture. I'm wondering if it's on almost every page!

So, I'm going to take a risk here. Has anyone ever needed a word of encouragement or wisdom from scripture and just randomly flipped and read where you landed? Perhaps hoping for the Holy Spirit to supernaturally turn the pages and highlight the word or story you need? I have! Sometimes it "worked," and other times I ended up reading a genealogy or a story about murder. Then I would scan desperately – hoping for a glimmer of wisdom, trying not to admit it didn't "work" this time. haha. I've decided to do that with you all in this letter! Not the denial part (hopefully).

I'm going to randomly open up the Bible three times – scan the chapter, and pick out some nature words or phrases to share with y'all. Maybe you want to try it too. And if I happen to open up to a chapter that doesn't have anything (if that exists!) I'll say that too.

Okay, let's give it a go!

The first random flip was Psalm 84.

I was relieved it was a Psalm. Surely there are great nature illustrations!

Here they are:

1. A sparrow finding a home
2. The swallow in a nest
3. The rain covering
4. A place of springs
5. God as a sun and shield

Next random flip was 2 Chronicles 36

Here they are:

1. Setting fire to God's temple
2. The land enjoyed its sabbath rest

Next random flip is 1 Kings 15

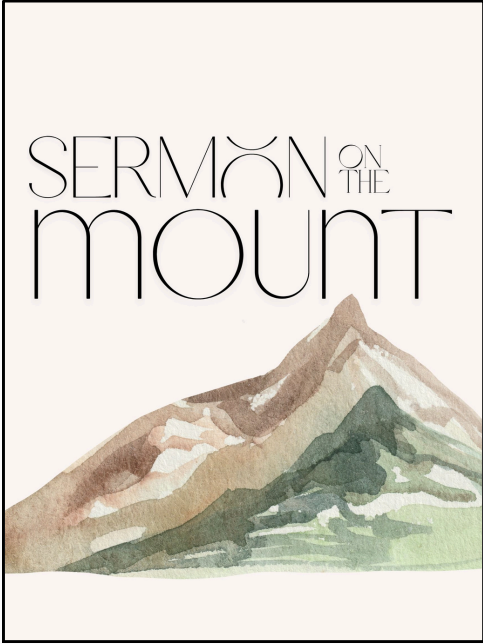

There was plenty of killing in this chapter. But I did manage to find a few spots where creation is named.

Here they are:

1. Silver and gold as gifts
2. A heart fully committed
3. A lamp from God in Jerusalem

Nature is always speaking, even if it doesn't use words.

Listening together,
Pastor Lydia

This month, we wrap up our sermon series on the Sermon on the Mount. During the season of Epiphany, between Christmas and Lent, we have turned our attention to the teaching of Jesus in his most well-known teaching in the Gospel of Matthew. As we conclude, we will wrestle with loving our enemies and living our faith in public....

Then, on February 15, Pastor Lydia will lead us into the gospel story of the Transfiguration where Jesus climbs a different mountain and is transformed for a brief glimpse into his glory....

Feb 1 | Loving Our Enemies
Matthew 5:38-48

Feb 8 | Performing Our Faith
Matthew 6:1-18

Feb 15 | Transfiguration Sunday
Matthew 17:1-9

This Lent we join Paul as he writes to the Church in Rome... Romans is one of the apostle's last letters, written later in his life, to a community of faith at odds with one another. As Paul addresses the reality of division in the Roman church, he pens one of the most beautiful and rich statements of faith on the power of God in Christ and the power of the Gospel to transform the lives of those "loved by God and called to be his own holy people" (Romans 1:7).

As we journey to Easter, let's listen to Paul's call to remember and believe the power of our God in Jesus to raise the dead and to transform enemies into beloved ones.

Feb 18 | Ash Wednesday Service at Noon
Come join us for a 30 minute service of ashes, prayer, and song
Look for more details to come!

Feb 22 | 1st Sunday of Lent
Romans 1:1-17

TRINITY VOLUNTEERS

This month's Trinity volunteers are our very own Bulletin Folding Group!

Every Wednesday morning at 10am, this group of volunteers faithfully folds bulletins and stuffs & stamps mailings to our homebound members. As they fold and stamp, this lovely group fills the Church Office with laughter and joy, with the smell coffee and homemade cookies.

And they take the time to write notes of love and care to those who receive our weekly mailings. A small act of kindness that is a HUGE blessing to others...

Q: How did you get started volunteering with the Bulletin Folding Group?

BFG: We heard, through word of mouth, they needed help putting the bulletins together. The four of us enjoy having a fun morning together.

*The Bulletin Folding Group:
Shirley, Karen, Mick, and Julaine*

Q: What do you do as the Bulletin Folding Group?

BFG: We start with a cup of coffee and sometimes a cookie. Samantha has things all set up for us. We fold bulletins, make sure all the inserts are enclosed and they are ready to go with labels and stamps.

Q: What do you want others to know about the Bulletin Folding Group?

BFG: It's fun to volunteer and enjoy each other's company.

Q: And, finally, how does your volunteering deepen your relationship with God and your neighbor?

BFG: God wants us to help our friends and neighbors. Working together has been so much fun!

Thank you to Shirley, Juliane, Mick, and Karen for serving our church community!

Fold. Stuff. Stamp. Laugh. Repeat.

TRINITY CONNECTS

CAKE AND CONNECTING

Most people agree that life is better with friends... yet we're all experts at coming up with excuses: My house is a disaster. My to-do list is taller than I am. There's nowhere to go. There's no one to call. You know the drill.

So in early 2025, Samantha and I made a pact: one night a month, just the two of us, no kids, no guilt, no "I should really fold laundry." To guarantee we'd actually show up, we added cake. A different local bakery every month, complete with a very official rating system for flavor, cake, and frosting. (We took this more seriously than most people take their taxes).

The rules were simple: the night could be one hour or three, the house could be spotless or look like a tornado auditioned for a role, and pajamas were always acceptable. The point was connection... and cake. Mostly connection. But also cake.

CAKE TIME glasses, what? Don't you want a pair?

Cake + a comfy night in!

Ryke's gets the crown for BEST CAKE!

Nothing Bundt Cake

Cake + Parade of Homes

Shockingly, it worked. We didn't just sit at home either — we ate cake at the Parade of Homes, cake while shopping in Grand Rapids, and cake during a covert mission in southern Michigan that ended with us sprinting into a random bakery in Portage during a monsoon. Friendship builds memories, and apparently also a strong tolerance for sugar.

In the end, Rykes took home the crown for Best Cake of 2025. But honestly, the real winner was the reminder that friendship doesn't need perfect timing or perfect conditions — just two people willing to show up... preferably with dessert.

With all our love,

Hope & Samantha

JERUSALEM TEMPLE GAZETTE

by Rexilius, investigative scribe of the Jerusalem Temple Gazette, AD 33 or so

Hello, everyone, I am Rexilius, investigative scribe for the Jerusalem Temple Gazette.

My guest today is Malchus, head servant of the high priest Caiaphus. He has quite an interesting story to tell.

Welcome, Malchus. Tell us what happened to you.

Malchus – It was 51 days ago Thursday. One of The Miracle Rabbi's inner twelve, named Judas, came to the high priest's palace with the news that the Rabbi would be in the Garden at Gethsemane after dark with just a few of his inner circle. If we wanted to arrest him, we could do so then with very little public outcry. The betrayer Judas got thirty pieces of silver for his information.

Caiaphus instructed me to go with Judas and lead a squad of temple police the back way to the Garden so they could arrest the Rabbi. Which I did. Judas came too to identify Jesus in the dark with the kiss of greeting.

We had a full squad of armed temple police, thirty men, and we were told they would have ten or eleven, at most. We were all armed with swords and lances. We did not expect any of them to be armed, but with Zealots you don't take chances. We found the group exactly where Judas said they would be. Someone asked,

"Who are you seeking?" I answered "Jesus of Nazareth." He answered, "I am he." We all jumped back and tripped over each other and fell flat. Judas was one of the first on his feet and he went and kissed Jesus. After Judas positively identified him, I said, "Jesus bar Joseph, you are under arrest by order of Caiaphas, high priest of Judah."

That's when things got chaotic. Someone yelled "sword," and I ducked left for cover behind the nearest policeman. I heard the "whoosh" of air as the sword passed my head and felt a sharp pain in my right ear before I hit the ground. If I hadn't ducked, the sword would have cut the top of my head clean off. As it was, I lost my ear and a bit of hair. What happened next was reported by the policeman where I landed. I had fainted from shock and heard nothing.

He said he heard the Rabbi shout, "Peter, put that sword back in your sheath. My kingdom is not going to be one of violence and force-of arms. Don't you get that yet?"

Then the policeman said the Rabbi told everyone to look for the ear. It was dark. There was a lot of tall grass. Everyone still had drawn swords and were waving torches.

It was hectic.

Rexilius, an investigative scribe from AD 33, is the pen name of our very own Ron Blaukamp!

Ron started writing these interview style historical pieces many years ago as a way to process what he heard in sermons and deepen his own engagement with Scripture.

This month's column brings us into the events leading up to the crucifixion as told in the Gospel of John.

We meet Malchus, the head servant of the high priest Caiaphus, who was there the night that Jesus was arrested....

The Rabbi asked, "Let these others go." We had no orders to arrest anyone else, so I said, "OK."

The Rabbi's "friends" disappeared in the dark. One of the policemen, Cornelius I think, found something soft. "Is this little thing his ear," he asked. "That's it" the Rabbi said. "It looks strange when not attached to a head. Give it to me."

Then, the policeman said, he put it in its place against my bleeding stump and said, "Be healed!" And, I was. The hair didn't grow back, but the bleeding was stopped and my ear was perfectly in place as if it had never left. I don't even have a scar. (I do often wonder what would have happened if I hadn't ducked exactly when I did. Would he have, could he have, put my head back together? Is the top of a head repaired/replaced anymore of a miracle than an ear repaired/replaced?)

Rex – What happened then?

Malchus – The guys with the Rabbi were gone, but the Rabbi didn't run or resist in any way, so the police arrested him. We all marched back to the palace and brought Jesus to Caiaphas as ordered.

Caiaphas asked how it all went down, so he knew all about the sword, my ear, my restoration, and the disappearance of the twelve, before he even talked with the Rabbi.

Rex – Jesus had just restored your life by restoring your ear and your whole appearance. You received the last miracle from the "Miracle Rabbi." How did you feel about the trial and the eventual crucifixion? You, of all people in the Sanhedrin crowd, had intimate knowledge that Jesus was the real McCoy, that his movement was nonviolent, that he really cared about ordinary people.

Malchus -- I am the slave of Caiaphas. What do the thoughts or feelings of a slave matter? Even though I am trusted with great responsibility, I am still a SLAVE. That said, I am also a "beloved child of God." No-one who has personally experienced a miracle like Jesus did to me is going to walk away unaffected. I believe he was God's Miracle worker. He wasn't the "Military Messiah" we Jews are all expecting. He rejected violence. "Peace doesn't come at the point of a sword," as the Zealots, the Romans, the Assyrians, and almost everyone else believes. I have heard it said that-his primary message was "Love your neighbor as yourself." He certainly did that for me. He also said, "Love your enemies." I certainly was his enemy at that point. But he healed me anyway. The world is a very impoverished place with Jesus not in it! I am incredibly sad. But, there seems to be hope.

Rex – Let me ask a second question about the rumor that started on that next Monday, that Jesus is alive, resurrected by God after 3 days, appearing around town to his followers and then disappearing, walking through walls, etc.? You were there in the palace with Caiaphas and the Sanhedrin. What were you hearing? What were they thinking?

Malchus –The Roman soldiers who were guarding the tomb with the body reported that an earthquake caused rocks to fall on each of them rendering them unconscious and rolling the entrance stone aside. When they woke up, the body was gone. They assumed the Zealots had stolen it. The Centurion had them executed for "dereliction of duty." I guess he thought they should have anticipated an earthquake and been prepared. Seems unfair to me. Anyway, Caiaphas and the Sanhedrin knew the Romans were professional killers. Crucified persons do not revive. Jesus was dead. They thought the most believable story was the Zealot grave robbing story. However, after the feast of Pentecost yesterday, those cowardly betrayers of the Rabbi are not cowardly any more. They boldly marched to the Temple courtyard and stood on the highest steps and declared that "Jesus is alive" in every language under the sun and swore things like, "We have seen him, touched him, ate with him.. He walked through the wall of the Bethlehem Inn's Upper Room when the doors were locked and talked with us." They spoke with power and authority. They are very convincing! I'm hoping their story is true. I guess I will see.

Rex – Thanks, Malchus. Well folks, that's the story straight from Malchus's mouth. I don't think we have heard the last of this.

Children's Ministry Notes

Children and Worship

After the Children's Blessing, students ages 4 yrs old-3rd grade are invited to Children & Worship downstairs. Please see the bulletin for who the Teacher and Helper is each week. Parents: Children will be led back upstairs at the end of the service.

- February 1 | The Mustard Seed
- February 8 | The Leaven
- February 15 | The Sower
- February 22 | The Good Samaritan

Women of the Word Evening Edition Walking with God through Psalm 119

When: Wednesday nights February 4 - March 11 @ 7:00 - 8:30 PM
How Long: 6 weeks (See the schedule below)
Where: In the Meditation Room in the office area
Contact: Teresa Harrington

Why: Psalm 119 is an acrostic poem of the Hebrew Alphabet. It contains 22 sections, each section contains 8 lines. Each line of each section begins with the designated letter of the Hebrew alphabet. (For example, section 1 is the letter Aleph, so each of its 8 lines begins with that Hebrew letter. The next section is Beth, so each of its 8 lines begins with THAT Hebrew letter. And so on all the way through the 22 letters of the Hebrew alphabet. It's a wonderfully constructed poem! Absolutely God inspired!

Together we'll read, study, reflect, create, and discuss 5 verses each week to better discern God's direction in our lives - both individually and as a community.

Light treats and tea will be provided.

Come. Join us. Let's dig a little deeper into Psalm 119 and see what we create!

Week 1: February 4 - Introductions, Background into Psalm 119, Your Acrostic Challenge (not required to do)

Assignment - Read Psalm 119: Aleph, Beth, Gimel, Daleth, He (Verses 1 - 40)

Week 2: February 11 - Discuss the first 5 sections. (song/video/other share)

Assignment - Read Psalm 119: Waw, Zayin, Heth, Teh, Yodh (Verses 41 - 80)

Week 3: February 18 - Discuss verses 41-80 (song/video/other share)

Assignment - Read Psalm 119: Kaph, Lamedh, Mem, Nun, Samekh (Verses 81 - 120)

Week 4: February 25 - Discuss verses 81 - 120 (song/video/other share)

Assignment - Read Psalm 119: Ayin, Pe, Tsadhe, Qoph, Resh (Verses 121 - 160)

Week 5: March 4 - Discuss verses 121 - 160 (song/video/other share)

Assignment - Read Psalm 119: Sin & Shin, Taw (Verses 161 - 176)

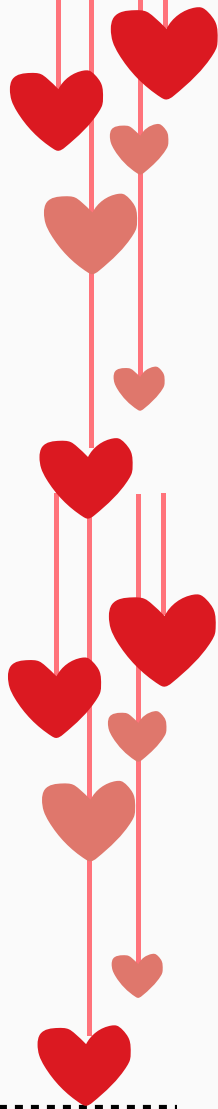

Week 6: March 11 - Discuss verses 161 - 176, Final Wrap Up & Sharings

Poem | Written and submitted by Linda Louisa Johnson

dedicated to the one I love

I love you not only because you love me but because you love God more than me
I love you because Christ is the center of your life and you no longer live, Christ lives within you
I love you because with the help of the Holy Spirit
you love, you care, you share
I love you not only for what you are but for what you are doing in my life
I love you because you not only accept the fact that in my life
God comes before you
but that you are happy because of it
I love you because your Christian fellowship has brought me closer to my God
I love you because you accept me the way I am and at the same time, you help me to see where I can go
I love you because you are willing to hurt me as well as yourself by showing to me my foolish actions which I knew were wrong, yet I was too lazy to correct
I love you because you add to my smile
a warmth I have not felt by anyone else
I love you because you are you and you accept me as me
I love you because you love
because you care
because you share
I love you because you are more than a friend...

Weather Cancellation Reminder

In the event of inclement weather, any service cancellation will be communicated by 8AM on Sunday morning. Following the decision to cancel made by the preaching pastor and the Vice President of Consistory, the church office will send email communication, as well as posting our cancellation on the following news outlets; Wood TV8, Fox 17, WWMT Channel 3 and WHTC 1450 AM Radio.

For any church events happening throughout the week, the cancellation and communication will come from the ministry organizer.

Thank You Trinity Church!
I was so happy to see your familiar name on the list of CultureWorks supporters! They have such a significant impact on students with both the quality of arts instruction and relationally. Both my ferns have taken CultureWorks classes and it's a big deal for them to want to leave our home for anything. It is such a safe, lovely space & little community for youth to grow, not only in artistic skill, but also a healthier sense of self. I'm honored to be on the CW Board and send love to my Trinity people! With gratitude,
